MEET OUR AUTHORS

Grace Sammon is an author, radio host, entrepreneur, and educator. Recognized in "Who's Who in Education" and "Who's Who in Literature," Grace utilized skills built up over decades to re-invent herself with her award-winning fourth book and debut novel – The Eves.

Always committed to creative collaborations, Grace is the founder of Author Talk Network; a member of the Women's Fiction Writers' Association (WFWA) and the Women's National Book Association (WNBA); and she is the Director of Membership for one of the fastest growing reader/writer on-line communities "Bookish Road Trip."

She currently lives on Florida's west coast with her husband and a small herd of imaginary llamas. Fin out more about Grace and her work at www.GraceSammon.Net

Mary Helen Sheriff serves as an Author Marketing Coach, helping authors save time and money on their journey to sell more books. She's the author of women's fiction Boop and Eve's Road Trip, the CEO of Bookish Road Trip, and co-editor of Launch Pad: The Countdown to Marketing Your Book. She writes "Journey into Book Marketing," a blog column for Bookish Road Trip, and "The Book Biz," a column in Women's Fiction Writers Association's e-zine Write ON! Go to her website to signup for "Nuts and Bolts" for free book marketing tips and ideas every month direct to your inbox.

Annie McDonnell's thoughtful book reviews won a regular spot with Elle magazine in 2006. She soon launched her blog, The Write Review. After she was declared permanently disabled in 2014, she devoted herself full-time to the literary community and became known as one of its best book reviewers. Annie has written articles and endorsements for authors; conducted author interviews; and consulted with authors on promotions and events. She continues to do so as her health allows. In addition, she administers the Write Review and World of the Write Review on Facebook. What makes her debut memoir Annie's Song: Dandelions, Dreams and Dogs even more remarkable is that much of it was written since Annie was told in January 2020 that she must go into hospice and was given last rites. An advocate for literacy, animal rescue, and those with disabilities, Annie is donating the proceeds from her cross-genre memoir—which hit top spots on Amazon's Hot New Releases charts in Biographies/Memoirs of People with Disabilities, Poetry/Grief, Death and Bereavement, and Books by Irish Authors, among others—to nonprofits that serve those causes.

Linda Ulleseit, from Saratoga, California, earned an MFA in writing from Lindenwood University. She is a member of the Hawaii Writers Guild, Women Writing the West, and Paper Lantern Writers. Linda is the award-winning author of the historical novels Under the Almond Trees, The Aloha Spirit, and The River Remembers. She believes in the unspoken power of women living ordinary lives. Her books are the stories of women in her family who were extraordinary but unsung. She recently retired from teaching elementary school and now enjoys writing full-time as well as cooking, leather-working, reading, gardening, spending time with her family, and walking her dog. https://ulleseit.com/

Erika Lance is a writer of horror, suspense, Sci-fi and a little fantasy. She has been many things in this life, but she is most proud of being a nerd before it was cool. Growing up in the 80's and 90's she will tell you, finding another female D&D player was rare. She is also the CEO of 4 Horsemen Publications, Inc. and Accomplishing Innovation Press. She is also the host of the Drinking With Authors podcast and the co-host of Eerie Travels podcast.

Erika fell in love with the horror while watching Elvira and Dr. Paul Bearer on Saturday afternoon TV and was hooked. She believes that life is an adventure and it is built on the things you do, the people you surround yourself with and most of all the things you create.
